Program Overview

This program will explore research and advances in the diagnosis and management of benign hematologic conditions and hematologic malignancies, including indications for novel therapies. Case-based presentations will highlight recommendations for treatment of common hematologic diagnoses.

Educational Outcomes

- Define the new Acute Myeloid Leukemia (AML) classifications and discuss updated guidelines.
- Discuss the new treatment modalities for Myelodysplastic Syndromes (MDS).
- Explain the pathogenesis of Clonal Hematopoiesis of Indeterminate Potential (CHIP), identify its clinical implications and associated risks, and discuss current management strategies and future research directions.
- Describe current practices and innovations in transfusion medicine.
- Identify diagnostic and therapeutic strategies in multiple myeloma.
- Analyze pulmonary complications in hematologic diseases.
- Examine current and emerging therapies in lymphoma treatment.
- Discuss treatment strategies for concomitant arterial and venous thrombosis.

Target Audience

Community hematologists and oncologists, as well as advanced practice providers, nurses, and pharmacists are welcome to attend.
